2. Client agrees to keep the attorney advised of client's whereabouts at all times, to cooperate in the settlement, preparation, trial and any appeal of this matter, to provide all documents, witnesses, records, physical samples, inspection of premises and any other discovery that might be required legally, to appear for scheduled depositions and court appearances, and to comply with all reasonable requests made by attorney or his assistants in connection with the settlement, preparation and/or trial of this matter.

C. 1. The client understands and agrees that, prior to the filing of any lawsuit, the attorney may refuse representation, withdraw from representation, or terminate representation at any time and for any reason or for no reason, including without limitation any act or matter that is morally repugnant to attorney or might cause a breach of any professional conduct rule or other legal limitation, the determination that the case lacks sufficient merit or collectability in the event of judgment or settlement, and/or if material facts are found to be different than represented by client.

2. The client understands and agrees that, after suit is filed, the attorney may withdraw from further representation with the approval of the court for any reason permitted by the Rules of Professional Conduct. Such reasons include, without limitation, failure of the client to pay the attorney monies when due to the attorney, participation of the client in any criminal or fraudulent act or the pursuing goals (or means to a goal) which the attorney finds personally improper or morally repugnant.
